

Index

VOLUME VII

A

- Abilities Possessed by the Good Speller—M. E. Palmer, 149.
- Among the Publishers, 112, 183, 213, 239.
- Applying the Psychology of Reading to Composition (editorial) 109.
- Archer, C. P.—Shall We Teach Spelling by Rule? 61.
- Are Spelling Needs Local?—J. Farrar, 143.
- Ashbaugh, E. J.—The Seriousness of the Initial Error, 59.
- Audience Situations in an Activity Program—F. Jenkins, 202.
- Ayres, Nellie Wren, Buchanan, Inez A., and Parks, Carrie Belle—An Exchange of Letters, 126.

B

- Barnes, Ruth A.—Illustrators, 197; Poetry: By and For Children, 94.
- Barnes, Walter—Language As Behavior, 241; Opportunities in Elementary English, 179.
- Blaisdell, Thomas C.—Let the Child Read, 3.
- Book Reviews. See Reviews and Abstracts.
- Book Week. See Children's Book Week.
- Boomerang (editorial), 212.
- Breed, Frederick S.—New-Type Spelling Tests, 54.
- Buchanan, Inez A., Ayres, N. W., and Parks, C. B.—An Exchange of Letters, 126.
- Business Letters—M. M. Walsh, 170.

C

- Can Sentence Sense in Written Composition Be Obtained?—M. E. Jacobs, 223.
- Capitalizing Sixth-Grade Energy—B. M. Goodwin, 43.
- Carter, Julia F.—Some Thoughts on Boys' Reading, 175.
- "Cautionary" Stories for Children—C. T. Logan, 124.
- Child as a Creator—R. A. Welch, 70.

Children's Book Week. Book Week Introductions (editorial), 235; Book Week Suggestions (editorial), 212; Melcher, F.—The Story of "Book Week," 191.

Children's Literature. Barnes R. A.—Poetry: By and For Children, 94; Blaisdell, T. C.—Let the Child Read, 3; Carter, J. F.—Some Thoughts on Boys' Reading, 175; Cuzner, Fay—Newspaper Reading Habits, 35; Dearborn, F. R.—Poetry for the First Three Grades, 67; Humble, E.—Fairies Today, 204; Logan, C. T.—"Cautionary" Stories for Children, 124; McClelland, E. H.—The Problem of Aviation Books for Boys, 57; Moscrip, R. M.—Children's Reading and World Friendliness, 91; Phillips, M.—A List of Poems Based on Children's Choices, 229; Potter, M. F.—The Hudson, Its Legends and Its Lore, 27; Ramsey, E.—Creative Reading, 116; Roller, B.—"There Is No Frigate Like a Book," 101; Roller, B. and Stinson, B. L.—An Experiment in Teaching Poetry to Children, 8; Singley, L.—Nature Books for Vacation Days, 151.

Children's Literature—Bibliography. The Covered Wagon and Its Period: A Bibliography for Use in Elementary Schools, 209; Simonson, I. S.—The Christmas Time, 246.

Children's Reading and World Friendliness.—R. Moscrip, 91.

Christmas Time: A Bibliography—I. S. Simonson, 246.

Classroom Projects and Methods. Ayres, N. W., Buchanan, I. A. and Parks, C. B.—An Exchange of Letters, 126; Goodwin, B. M.—Capitalizing Sixth-Grade Energy, 43; Harper, E. M. and Hallman, G.—Social Individualization for a Seventh-Grade, 30; Roller, B. and Stinson, B. L.—An Experiment in Teaching Poetry to Children, 8; Stanley, E. M.—Work That Culminated in an Assembly, 108; Stratton, F. K.—Shade of Samuel Morse, 6; Walsh, M. M.—Business Letters, 170.

Clowes, Helen Coe—The Reading Clinic, 98.

Composition. Applying the Psychology of Reading to Composition (editorial), 109; Ayres, N. W., Buchanan, I. A., and Parks, C. B.—An Exchange of Letters, 126; Barnes, R. A.—Poetry: By and

For Children, 94; Jacobs, M. E.—Can Sentence Sense in Written Composition Be Obtained? 223; Walsh, M. M.—Business Letters, 170; Welch, R. A.—The Child as a Creator, 70.

Covered Wagon and Its Period: A Bibliography for Use in Elementary Schools, 209.

Creative Reading—E. Ramsey, 116.

Creative Writing Barnes, R. A.—Poetry: By and For Children, 94; Welch, R. A.—The Child as a Creator, 70.

Cuzner, Fay—Newspaper Reading Habits, 35.

D

Dead Letters—M. F. Rice, 225.

Dearborn, Frances R.—Poetry for the First Three Grades, 67; The Value of the Present Tendencies in Elementary School English, 15.

Drill Content of Certain Language Tests and Practice Exercises—H. A. Greene, 163.

E

Editorials, 24, 46, 78, 109, 135, 158, 181, 212, 235, 257.

Effect of Errors in Pronunciation Upon Spelling—M. E. Kay, 64.

Exchange of Letters—N. W. Ayres, I. A. Buchanan, and C. B. Parks, 126.

Experiment in Teaching Poetry to Children—B. Roller, and B. L. Stinson, 8.

F

Fairies Today—M. Humble, 204.

Farrar, Joe—Are Spelling Needs Local? 143.

G

Gist, Arthur S.—The Teaching of Oral Reading, 255.

Goodwin, Mrs. Blanche M.—Capitalizing Sixth-Grade Energy, 43.

Goodykoontz, Bess—Teaching Pupils to Organize What They Read, 87.

Greene, Harry A.—The Drill Content of Certain Language Tests and Practice Exercises, 163.

Guiler, Walter Scribner—Improving Ability to Punctuate, 219.

H

Hallman, Mrs. Georgia, and Harper, Mrs. E. M.—Social Individualization For a Seventh Grade, 30.

Harper, Mrs. Elsie M. and Hallman, Mrs. G.—Social Individualization For a Seventh Grade, 30.

Horn, Ernest—The Rationalization of Spelling, 51.

How to Remember What One Reads—G. A. Yoakam, 83.

Hudson, Its Legends and Its Lore—M. F. Potter, 27.

Humble, Emma—Fairies Today, 204.

I

Illustrators—R. A. Barnes, 197.

Improving Ability to Punctuate—W. S. Guiler, 219.

Inert Conservatism (editorial), 158.

Inglis, Rewey Belle—Retrospect and Prospect, 37.

J

Jacobs Minta E.—Can Sentence Sense in Written Composition Be Obtained? 223.

Jenkins, Frances—Audience Situations in an Activity Program, 202.

Johnson, Roy Ivan—The Old and the New in English Instruction, 11.

K

Kay, Marjorie E.—The Effect of Errors in Pronunciation Upon Spelling, 64.

King, William A.—Work Reading in the Intermediate Grades, 129.

L

Language Approach to Reading—W. E. Young, 113.

Language As Behavior—W. Barnes, 241.

Language Fundamentals. Schicker, E.—Teaching Language Fundamentals, 172.

Let the Child Read—T. C. Blaisdell, 3.

Letter-Writing. Ayres, N. W., Buchanan, Inez A., and Parks, C. B.—An Exchange of Letters, 126; Rice, Mabel F.—Dead Letters, 225; Walsh, M. M.—Business Letters, 170.

List of Poems Based on Children's Choices—M. Phillips, 229.

Logan, Conrad T.—"Cautionary" Stories for Children, 124.

M

McClelland, E. H.—The Problem of Aviation Books for Boys, 57.

- McCowan, Annie M.—Professional Preparation for Teaching Spelling, 139.
- McGovney, Margarita—Spelling Deficiency in Children of Superior General Ability, 146.
- McKee, Paul—Research Values in Children's Writing Vocabularies, 73.
- Meador, Emma Grant—A New Attitude Toward Speech, 251.
- Melcher, Frederic—The Story of "Book Week," 191.
- Methods of Diagnosis in Reading—P. V. Sangren, 105.
- Moscrip, Ruth M.—Children's Reading and World Friendliness, 91.

N

- National Council of Teachers of English: The Council Meets in Cleveland (editorial), 181; Council Officers (editorial), 46; Exhibit of Creative Writing for the Cleveland Meeting, 109; The Elementary Committee (editorial), 78; Nineteenth Annual Meeting, Kansas City, Mo.: Report of Conferences Relating to Elementary English, 22; Program, 236; Program for the Elementary Division (editorial), 46.

- Nature Books for Vacation Days—L. Singley, 151.
- New Attitude Toward Speech—E. G. Meador, 251.
- New-Type Spelling Tests—F. S. Breed, 54.
- Newspaper Reading Habits—F. Cuzner, 35.

O

- Old and New in English Instruction—R. I. Johnson, 11.
- Old Problem (editorial), 158.
- Opportunities in Elementary English—W. Barnes, 179.

P

- Palmer, Mary E.—Abilities Possessed by the Good Speller, 149.
- Parks, Carrie Belle, Ayres, N. W. and Buchanan, I. A.—An Exchange of Letters, 126.
- Pedagogical Salvage (editorial), 24.
- Phillips, Claude Anderson—Teach-Test-Study Plan in Spelling, 155.
- Phillips, Marina—A List of Poems Based on Children's Choices, 229.
- Poetry: By and For Children—R. A. Barnes, 94.

- Poetry for the First Three Grades—F. A. Dearborn, 67.
- Potter, M. F.—The Hudson, Its Legends and Its Lore, 27.
- Problem of Aviation Books for Boys—E. H. McClelland, 57.
- Professional Preparation for Teaching Spelling—A. M. McCowan, 139.
- Pronunciation. Kay, M. E.—The Effect of Errors in Pronunciation Upon Spelling, 64; Meador, E. G.—A New Attitude Toward Speech, 251.
- Punctuation. Guiler, W. S.—Improving Ability to Punctuate, 219; Jacobs, M. E.—Can Sentence Sense in Written Composition Be Obtained? 223.

R

- Ramsey, Eloise—Creative Reading, 116.
- Rationalization of Spelling—E. Horn, 51.
- Reading. Applying the Psychology of Reading to Composition, (editorial), 109; Clowes, H. C.—The Reading Clinic, 98; Gist, A. S.—The Teaching of Oral Reading, 255; Goodykoontz, B.—Teaching Pupils to Organize What They Read, 87; King, W. A.—Work Reading in the Intermediate Grades, 129; Ramsey, Eloise—Creative Reading, 116; Sangren, Paul V.—Methods of Diagnosis in Reading, 105; Yoakam, G. A.—How to Remember What One Reads, 83; Young, W. E.—The Language Approach to Reading, 113.
- Real Significance of Children's Interests (editorial), 135.
- Research Values in Children's Writing Vocabularies—P. McKee, 73.
- Retrospect and Prospect—R. B. Inglis, 37.
- Reviews and Abstracts, 47, 80, 110, 136, 159, 182, 239.
- Rice, Mabel F.—Dead Letters, 225.
- Roller, Bert—"There Is No Frigate Like a Book," 101.
- Roller, Bert, and Stinson, B. L.—An Experiment in Teaching Poetry to Children, 8.

S

- Sangren, Paul V.—Methods of Diagnosis in Reading, 105.
- Schicker, Edna—Teaching Language Fundamentals, 172.

Seriousness of the Initial Error—E. J. Ashbaugh, 59.

Shade of Samuel Morse—F. K. Stratton, 6.

Shall We Teach Spelling by Rule?—C. P. Archer, 61.

Simonson, Ida S.—The Christmas Time: A Bibliography, 246.

Singley, Louise—Nature Books for Vacation Days, 151.

Social Individualization for a Seventh Grade—Harper, E. M. and Hallman, G., 30.

Some Thoughts on Boys' Reading—J. F. Carter, 175.

Speech. Meader, E. G.—A New Attitude Toward Speech, 251.

Spelling. Archer, C. P.—Shall We Teach Spelling By Rule? 61; Ashbaugh, E. J.—The Seriousness of the Initial Error, 59; Breed, F. S.—New-Type Spelling Tests, 54; Farrar, J.—Are Spelling Needs Local? 143; Horn, E.—The Rationalization of Spelling, 51; Kay, M. E.—The Effect of Errors in Pronunciation Upon Spelling, 64; McCowan, Annie M.—Professional Preparation for Teaching Spelling, 139; McGovney, M.—Spelling Deficiency in Children of Superior General Ability, 146; McKee, P.—Research Values in Children's Writing Vocabularies, 73; The Old Problem (editorial), 158; Palmer, M. E.—Abilities Possessed by the Good Speller, 149; Phillips, C. A.—Teach-Test-Study Plan in Spelling, 155.

Stanley, Mrs. Emma M.—Work that Culminated in an Assembly, 108.

Stinson, Bess L. and Roller, B.—An Experiment in Teaching Poetry to Children, 8.

Story of "Book Week"—F. Melcher, 191.

Stratton, F. K.—Shade of Samuel Morse, 6.

T

Teach-Test-Study Plan in Spelling—C. A. Phillips, 155.

Teacher Training. McCowan, A. M.—Professional Preparation for Teaching Spelling, 139.

Teaching Language Fundamentals—E. Schicker, 172.

Teaching of Oral Reading—A. S. Gist, 255.

Teaching Pupils to Organize What They Read—B. Goodykoontz, 87.

Tests. Breed, F. S.—New-Type Spelling Tests, 54; Greene, H. A.—The Drill Content of Certain Language Tests and Practice Exercises, 163.

"There Is No Frigate Like a Book"—B. Roller, 101.

V

Value of the Present Tendencies in Elementary School English—F. R. Dearborn, 15.

Vocabulary Study. McKee, P.—Research Values in Children's Writing Vocabularies, 73.

W

Walsh, M. M.—Business Letters, 170.

Welch, R. A.—The Child as a Creator, 70.

Work Reading in the Intermediate Grades—W. A. King, 129.

Work That Culminated in an Assembly—E. M. Stanley, 108.

Y

Yoakam, Gerald Alan—How to Remember What One Reads, 83.

Young, William E.—The Language Approach to Reading, 113.

s,
1
2.
3.
;
n
1.
y
in
A.
M. at to